

Dear Team

I am applying for the Retail Partnership Manager role within NielsenIQ's Retail Vertical team.

My background is in commercial account management and retail operations at Brunello Cucinelli and Suitsupply in the United States. I managed long-term wholesale partnerships with major retail accounts including Neiman Marcus, Saks Fifth Avenue and Nordstrom, acting as the primary point of contact, driving sell-through performance, identifying growth opportunities and ensuring brand standards were met across a complex multi-door network. I understand how retailers think, what they prioritise, and how to build relationships that last beyond a single season.

The NIQ proposition is compelling to me precisely because of that background. I have been on the receiving end of retail intelligence conversations and I understand the value of data-driven decision making at the buying and commercial level. Selling that capability to retail partners is a natural extension of the commercial relationships I have spent my career building.

I also bring B2B sales experience from Flagship.ai where I managed the full sales cycle for a retail technology platform, including pipeline management, discovery, product demonstrations and closing.

I am Cape Town based, immediately available and genuinely interested in NIQ's growth in the African market.

CV attached.
